Conclusion:

The Online Quiz Contest on World Environment Day organized by the Departments of Physics, Chemistry, and Geography at Krishnagar Women's College successfully raised awareness about environmental issues among the students and the common people. The event provided an opportunity for participants to test their knowledge and learn more about sustainable practices. The e-certificates of participation served as a token of appreciation for the students' active involvement. Such initiatives play a vital role in fostering environmental consciousness and encouraging sustainable actions within the college community and beyond.
